Celebrating our 51st Foundation Day, we honor the relentless efforts of our students, faculty, and staff who have upheld our mission of excellence in agricultural education. This momentous occasion marks our remarkable strides in research, education, and extension services, including the development of high-yielding crop varieties, pioneering sustainable farming practices, and enhancing farmer livelihoods. We commemorate milestones such as the establishment of cutting-edge research centers, successful collaborations with national and international organizations, and groundbreaking research that has had a lasting impact on India's agricultural landscape. As a leader in agricultural research, BCKV continues to make significant contributions to crop improvement, integrated pest management, and climate-resilient agriculture, ensuring food and nutritional security for the region and beyond.
